GREETINGS FROM BUTEO BOOKS IN SHIPMAN, VIRGINIA, USA

OUT-OF-PRINT AND ANTIQUARIAN BOOKS

Our antiquarian listings begin on page 1. Descriptions are minimal to save space, so don't hesitate to call or write if you have any questions. Following the item number, listing is by author, title, place and date of publication, and number of pages. Artists are noted when relevant.

Most books are one-of-a-kind; reserving books by telephone or e-mail is recommended!

A glossary of antiquarian book terms can be found on our website at the Antiquarian/Used link. A small selection of our thousands of antiquarian books may also be found there; stay tuned for the online selection to expand in the future. In the meantime, please contact us if there are any specific out-of-print books for which you are looking.

We purchase fine ornithology books, either single volumes or complete libraries. Call or write if you have books you wish to sell or trade.

NEW AND FORTHCOMING BOOKS

On page 18 begins our section of in-print new and forthcoming books, including publications of the American Birding Association.

We have a great many titles in stock which are not listed in this catalog and actively search for both old and new books in the field of ornithology. Please contact us if you do not find the book for which you are looking. Buteo Books continues to stock the most extensive selection of new, used, and out of print bird books to be found in the world.

OUR MAILING LIST

For obvious reasons, we strive to minimize the number of catalogs we send out. Our mailing list is not shared and we do not wish to send catalogs to people who do not want them. If you would prefer to receive electronic communications only, or be removed from the mailing list entirely, please contact us.

NOTES:

The New Naturalist Monographs Series

In 1945, Collins, of St. James Place, London published Butterflies, the first title in the New Naturalist Library, a series of books on British Natural History in iconic dust jackets, with the aim of interesting the general reader in the wildlife of Britain by recapturing the enquiring spirit of the old naturalists. Within a few years, Collins perceived a need to narrow the focus by producing "New Naturalist Special Volumes" with each title devoted to a single species and thus was born the New Naturalist Monographs. Twenty-two monographs were published, beginning with The Badger in 1948 and ending with The Mole in 1971.

194. We are pleased to offer the complete series of the New Naturalist Monographs in dust jackets, all first editions with the exception The Trout which is a 1972 reprint. Some of the dust jackets have minor chipping and some small bits of insect chewing. A complete list of the 'monographs' is available. Overall a fine set. $4,400.00

REUSABLE BAMBOO FLATWARE

How often have you been faced with throwing away plastic knives, forks, and spoons? I was delighted to discover these reusable bamboo utensil sets housed in a handy clip-on holder which is made of recycled plastic bottles. Each set contains knife, fork, spoon, and chopsticks. Case is available in four colors: avocado, merlot, hijiki (black with green trim), and pumpkin. Each time I use my set (and remember to have it with me) I feel I'm making a contribution, no matter how small, to reducing the appalling volume of solid waste generated by us.

-Allen Hale

A handy carabiner lets you clip & carry a fork, knife, spoon and chopsticks wherever you may roam. Perfect for use in the field. Color choices may be viewed at www.buteobooks.com
